This coal and gas range with two ovens
is a wonder for cooking

Although less than four feet long it can do every kind of cooking for any ordinary family by gas in warm weather or by coal or wood when the kitchen needs heating.

There is absolutely no danger in this combination, as the gas range section is as entirely separate from the coal section as if placed in another part of the kitchen. By using both the coal and gas sections of the top, nine large utensils may be heated at one time.

A Large Roast and other baking can be done at the same time in the coal oven. The advantage is plain—Two Ovens give double capacity and allow the cook to complete the baking in one half the usual time.

See the Pastry Baking always in sight in the gas oven. The most delicate cake can be perfectly baked and watched through the glass paneled door.

Call and see this wonderful range

ST. JOHNSBURY DISTRICT OVER.

Has Contributed 100 Per Cent to Methodist Centenary.

St. Johnsbury district is one of the first in New England to go over the top by having 100 per cent organization in connection with the Methodist centenary, according to the report of Rev. E. W. Sharp, district superintendent, at the Boston centenary headquarters.

Dr. Sharp, who with the pastors of the local churches is largely responsible for this showing, says in his report that the centenary campaign has so far been very wholesome and a great help to the churches in his district. It has quickened the spiritual life of the churches and enlarged their vision of the possibilities of religious work. In a number of cases the campaign has proved the basis of very fruitful revival campaigns. The response to the stewardship campaign for people to give one-tenth of their incomes for Christian work has been very gratifying. As a result of having so many titheers, and consequently having a greater assured income, many of the churches have voluntarily increased their pastor's salaries and their gifts to benevolences. This district having completed its organization is now holding itself in readiness to do its part in the great centenary campaign drive for $140,000,000 from May 18 to 25.

Costly Ailment.

A stock speculator met another a few weeks ago and noticed that he had a little throat trouble. "What's the matter, old man," he asked; "caught cold?" "Oh, no," was the reply; "it's just a habit I've acquired lately from coughing up margins, that's all."—Boston Transcript.

COAL FACTS

No. 4

To those who are hoping for big price reduction:

We are in the coal business. We believe we know conditions. Frankly we cannot predict future prices. No one can. While we do not think substantial reductions are likely, there are many factors that may bring about some reduction.

Wages at the mines may be reduced. Freight rates may be reduced. On the other hand, there may be serious labor troubles; public utilities in New York City have recently faced a "close-down" because of inability to get coal. Cause: harbor strikes.

The wise consumer orders now and takes a fair share of his year's coal supply under existing price conditions; he provides himself against a recurrence of the horrible conditions of two years ago. If wide-spread labor troubles arise at the coal mines during the cold weather, who can measure the value of the coal already in your cellar?

We consider ourselves in partnership with the consumer. It is our function to get his coal to him. We advise him to take it during the open weather and as quickly as convenient. We know no more of what the future holds than the consumer does.

Buy your coal now and cease worrying about it.
